We Sell Your Book Online

We know you work hard everyday on your writing. We know you would like to be published. And we know you would like to make money at what you love to do. We can you help you get started on the business side of your dream.

Once your work is finished and you have edited it to your satisfaction, and you believe it is ready to be made into book form we can help you transform your book into an Acrobat Reader File, Upload it to our Server, Create a Page with a description and a book cover that you have created and offer it FOR SALE on our secure servers.

Once, your book has begun selling we will send you an electronic funds transfer directly to your bank and/or PayPal account. Whichever you prefer. All of our sales are handled through the Secure Servers at PayPal. We will not have access to the buyers financial information. We will need either your PayPal Account Name or your Bank Routing Number and Account Number to send you your money. We only keep 10% of the sales to cover our expenses. That's right you keep 90% of Sales. And we send you a financial report with information on the number of visitors to your page, the number of inquiries, the actual sales, and any returns along with your payment on the 7th of each month. If no sales have been received you will still get a report of visitors to your pages.

We Create Your Website

Every writer should have a website. This is your introduction to the WORLD. It helps you announce your upcoming books, give updates to your fans, where your next book signings will be and tell your readers a little bit about their favorite author.

You should have a Facebook PAGE and Tweet on Twitter. For beginning writers they will have to do these things themselves but once you get established you might want to hire someone to do the updating for you. Your readers will still want to see, you and hear from you and we suggest that you post on your website and have those post forwarded automatically to Twitter and Facebook.

If you don't already have a website we can create one for you. We can design it, set it up for posting to your social media pages, create a few introductory pages and help you maintain it.

Getting Your Name Out

Publicity is the key to every successful writer. We can get you started with a feature article on one of our many websites. Depending on where you live, what your books are about and where you sell your books we will create an informative article for you that includes your name, your book titles, your city and state, your website and a brief biography. We would ask that you include a picture of yourself and where your books are available online. We will do all the rest.

This service we offer for FREE to any author who contact us on our main website:

For Northeast Florida Writers we are creating a listing to be given to our local libraries, school boards and bookstores in our area. You can see more about this at:
